MATCH

Scagnellato & Ferrarese / 2025

Match was born from the combination of functionality and customization, designed to flexibly meet the needs of today's collective spaces. Its essential style and adaptable structure make it perfect for a wide range of settings: from classrooms to meeting rooms, from coworking areas to canteens, from break areas to waiting rooms. A versatile chair that blends visual identity, comfort, and practicality into one solution.

Match owes its name to the color combination of its components: seat and backrest in a lighter tone, and frame and armrests in a darker shade of the same palette. This harmonious contrast gives the design both personality and lightness, making Match immediately recognizable.

The innovative backrest mounting system, fully integrated into the structure and free of visible screws, enhances the chair's clean aesthetic while ensuring durability and strength. The polypropylene backrest, thanks to the natural elasticity of the polymer, responds dynamically to the user's body, adapting to movements and reducing fatigue even during extended use.

Eco Design and Sustainability

The brown version of Match is made from 100% recycled plastic. Beyond using eco-compatible materials, sustainable production processes have also been adopted to minimize environmental impact while maintaining high standards of quality and durability. The chair is designed with a simple and efficient disassembly system, allowing for easy separation of its components. This approach facilitates recycling and reduces waste, all while ensuring high standards of strength and reliability.
